WOMAN, IN DYING, GIVES THE GIFT OF LIFE TO DAUGHTER

Surgeons Operate to Save the Baby, Which Weighs Little Over 3 Pounds

PLACED IN INCUBATOR

Surgeons Spring Into Action As Spark of Life Leaves Woman

By Dorothy Kilgallen

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—Clinging to the black shrouds of death, life came to a bare, white hospital room this morning. Mrs. Mary Bocawinski died in dying gave a gift of life to a gasping, crying mite of humanity—a daughter.

At 3:15 a. m. the 27 year old mother succumbed to the ravages of tuberculosis meningitis. One minute later, surgeons had performed a Caesarian operation in the white glare of the operating light. Life literally and dramatically triumphed over death. Twenty minutes after birth, a bulletin issued at the Philadelphia General Hospital said the baby's condition was fair. The operation was performed by Dr. John Corbit, resident obstetrician. He had less than eight minutes after the mother's death to deliver the child. It was explained the blood from the mother's heart would have lost its momentum after that time, causing the child to suffocate. The tiny baby weighed between three and four pounds. A few minutes before death came to the frail little woman, whose first child was stillborn, her temperature rose to 109.4 degrees, periling the child's life as well as her own. A nurse at the bedside immediately summoned Dr. Corbit, who was talking to newspapermen. The young surgeon hurried into rubber gloves and began the operation. Nurses previously had been assigned to their various tasks. Dr. Corbit performed the operation in the small, white-walled room where Mrs. Bocawinski had lain in a state of coma for the past forty-eight hours.

"The baby is expected to live," Dr. Corbit said on emerging from the room. "She is having trouble breathing, but oxygen is being administered to her. The baby's temperature remains high, however."

Dr. Corbit declared there is very small chance the child will be infected by the disease that robbed the life of its mother.

Assisting Dr. Corbit at the operation were four nurses and Dr. Sally Youngman, another obstetrician. The oxygen was administered by two nurses while the others held instruments for the surgeon.

Adrenalin was ready to stimulate the heart action of the baby. Every device of modern medicine was at hand's reach.

Just before dawn the baby was placed in an incubator quickly, with an oxygen tank to keep the infant alive.

Physicians said the little girl's temperature is their main worry, although it is dropping gradually. They reiterated the baby will live.

In the corridor outside the operating room stood Mrs. Bocawinski's bewildered husband Dominick, who had reluctantly approved what a few hours before he bitterly protested—a post mortem operation which might save the life of his child.

"I did not understand," he said. "I was thinking of many things—of my wife and how I wanted her to live, of my wife's parents, and what they would say. I did not know."

A small dark man, he stood shifting his hat in his rough workman's hands.

Taxicab Strike Postponed After Wilson Conference

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—A threatened blow at the city's transportation system was heard by Mayor S. Davis Wilson today.

Postponement of the strike was gained a little more than 24 hours after Mayor Wilson had settled the city-wide sympathy strike of 6,000 truck drivers and 4,000 warehouse employees, which paralyzed deliveries of foodstuffs and other commodities, for 51 hours.

The Mayor announced that the Yellow Cab Company and the drivers continued to a 72-hour truce following the expiration of their contract last midnight. Out of the conference which led to the postponement came the intimation by Wilson that he might apply to the Public Service Commission for permission to have an "outside company" operate the city's taxi-cab system, unless an agreement was reached.

The drivers demanded a $25 a week minimum guarantee and 50% of all they take in over $50, but later changed this to 45% of all they take in a week and with a guaranteed minimum of $21. Under the old contract they were paid $12 minimum and 45% of their receipts over $30.

FIVE STITCHES NEEDED

Jacob DeWilde, North Radcliffe street, Edgely, while swimming last evening, cut his right leg on a submerged object. Five stitches were taken in the laceration at Harriman Hospital.

Young Folks Participate In A Delightful Roast

A "doggie" roast was held Tuesday evening at Edgely Beach, by a group of young folks.

Games and singing were enjoyed by: Mary Brescia, Rose Ponz, Elda Felli, Agnes LaSalle, Mary Spadafore, Mary Perrie, Clementina Conca, Mrs. Patsy Straffe, Mrs. Dominick DiBlassio, Mrs. Peter Brescia, Mrs. Frank Gallone.

PLAN NEW EDIFICE FOR CHURCH AT PERKASIE

St. Andrew's Lutheran Congregation To Purchase Large Building Lot

GROUPS TO DIVIDE

PERKASIE, Aug. 6.—Its own building and ground is the aim of the congregation of St. Andrew's Lutheran Church, Perkasia, which now shares in the use of a property with St. Andrew's Reformed congregation on Walnut street, South Perkasia.

The Lutheran congregation, which has been increasing rapidly in size, is making plans to erect its own building within the next three years. It has already voted to purchase ground in South Perkasia for the purpose.

The site selected for the proposed edifice is located between Dill and Virginia avenues and between Market street and Fretz avenue in South Perkasia, about three blocks from the present church. The purchase price is quoted at $1500. The property, which is known as Perkasia Manor, is owned by Wynne James, Jr., Doylestown. It is 320 by 450 feet and is equivalent to sixteen building lots in size.

The two congregations, financially unable before this to support separate buildings, have been sharing the same church. A system was worked out whereby each group had the use of the building at such times that would not conflict with the other.

The present building is owned jointly and the Lutheran congregation has proposed that the other group buy out its share. The Reformed congregation is considering the project but has come to no decision regarding the price.

The Lutheran group proposes furthering its plans with the aid of a building fund which it has established. After a survey of available and suitable sites for the proposed new building, Perkasia Manor was selected for the project. The members of the congregation hope that within three years they will have a new and modern building to house their growing organization.

Automobile Prices To Be Advanced in Near Future

DETROIT, Aug. 6.—Plans for stepping up the retail prices of all General Motors automobiles were announced today. Following closely upon the price increase announced by the Ford Motor Company and the statement of General Motors' chairman, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., that price boosts were inevitable, Cadillac, La Salle, Oldsmobile, Pontiac, Chevrolet and Buick divisions of the corporation disclosed that the retail listings are to be increased.

Effective August 9, Oldsmobile prices are to be increased $45. After August 14, Cadillac units will be raised $100 and La Salle $60. Buick will raise retail prices about three or four per cent from $30 to approximately $60 on August 9. Pontiac and Chevrolet have not yet determined the dates for their advances.

Because many producers were understood to be awaiting price actions by Ford and General Motors, authoritative sources indicated today a belief all other producers will follow the same course. All have been affected by the increased cost of materials and higher wage scales.

Scores Killed and Wounded In Madrid Bombardment

MADRID, Aug. 6.—Scores were killed and many wounded today when one of the fiercest daytime shelling the city has yet suffered burst suddenly on Madrid at 9:30 a. m.

The bombardment, the third this week, caught Madriderers unaware in the streets. The writer of this dispatch saw fleeing groups in the Puerto del Sol struck squarely by a large shell, and all were killed or wounded.

First intimation of the shelling came with a couple of low, ominous whistles, which quickly turned into roaring explosions. In quiet streets people could be seen rushing for shelter and huddled together in doorways, while others were foolishly enough to continue in the open.

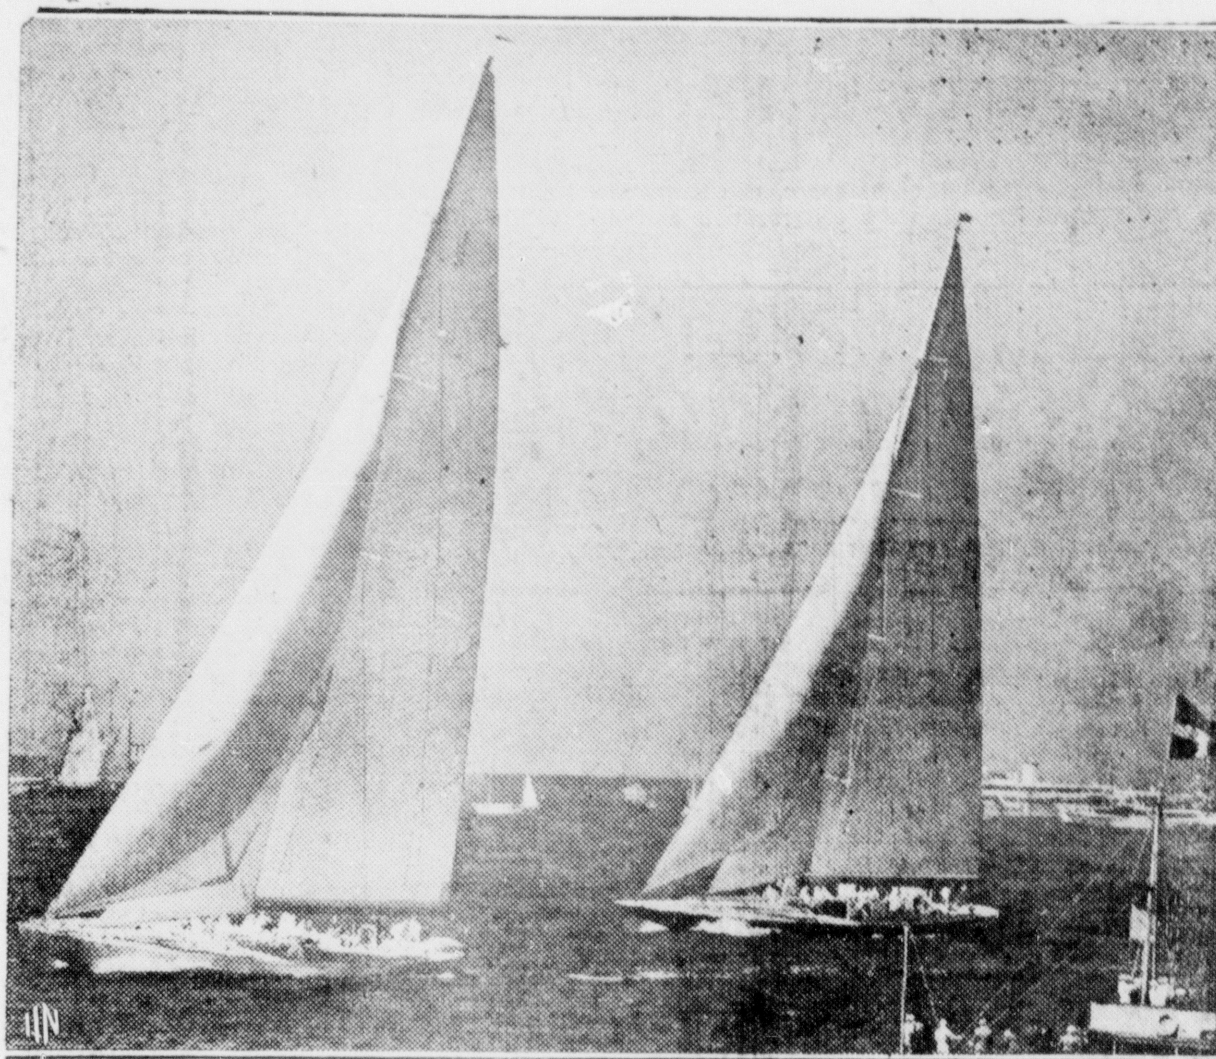

CONTUSIONS OF FINGER

When the first finger of his left hand was caught in a door yesterday, Frank Sugalski suffered contusions. He was treated at Harriman Hospital.

HAND AMPUTATED

At Harriman Hospital yesterday, Alexander Kasperski, 236 Cleveland street, had his hand amputated. Kasperski had his hand crushed Tuesday while at his employment at the plant of Lucius Beebe & Sons, Inc. The thumb was removed a short time after, but yesterday it was found necessary to amputate the hand.

Defender and Challenger in Cup Race

Harold S. Vanderbilt's Ranger is shown taking an early lead of two boat-lengths over the blue hulled Endeavour II in the third race for the America's Cup off Newport. The Ranger set a new windward record for cup yachts by footing the leg in 2 hours, 3 minutes and 47 seconds to finish nearly a mile ahead of T. O. M. Sopwith's challenger. Yesterday the Ranger defeated the Endeavour II for the fourth time, and kept the cup in the United States.

STATE TO TAKE OVER ADDITIONAL HIGHWAYS

Plans To Add 2574 Miles To State System Beginning January 1st

INCLUDES 1200 BRIDGES

By Warren Van Dyke
Secretary of Highways

HARRISBURG, Aug. 6.—The Department of Highways has started a survey of approximately 2600 miles of township, borough and city roads which are to be added to the State system on January 1.

This study will show generally the physical character of the roads which the last legislature transferred to our jurisdiction. Although the specific routes and their locations were designated in the legislation, the department wants to know just what is included in the added mileage. The survey is to be completed December 1.

Undoubtedly, we will find that many of these roads are in bad condition. Thus, the survey will indicate where repairs are needed most urgently and whether some of the roads should be reconstructed.

Survey crews will note the type of surface and width, the number of bridges and their measurements, and the number of railroad grade crossings and tracks. The State will take over 2,286 miles of township roads, 109 miles of borough streets, 22 miles of city streets, and 157 miles in Philadelphia, a total of 2,574 miles.

Our engineers estimate there are approximately 1200 bridges on the highways to be transferred to the State. These bridges, of course, will become part of the State system which now includes about 18,000 spans. Many of them probably will have to be strengthened or replaced.

It is quite evident that this transfer will further increase the department's responsibilities in maintaining Pennsylvania's position as the leader among all the states in improved highways.

The effect of this legislation is to make for a closer co-ordination of our entire system. It provides extensions to and connections between many existing State highways.

At the same time this action will save the political subdivisions large sums in maintenance costs and thus make possible corresponding reductions in the local tax burdens.

When the floods of March, 1936, struck Pennsylvania many bridges were swept away. Had not the State taken over 7,950 bridges the previous years, many local governmental units would have faced financial ruin because of lack of funds to repair and replace those lost spans.

Most of the bridges taken over in 1935 were in poor condition, making it necessary for the department to establish a $4,000,000 fund to repair and replace the unsafe structures in the first year.

The importance of bridges to an efficient network of traffic arteries cannot be over-emphasized. No matter how splendid a highway is, it can be rendered dangerous and inefficient by obsolete bridges. Old and inadequate structures have been allowed to remain in sparsely populated areas probably because many hundred feet of road could be built for what even a short span would cost.

Benzine Fails To Explode In Bombed Ship

Gibraltar, Aug. 6.—Because her inflammable cargo of benzine remained unexploded while bombs burst around her, the English tanker, British Corporal, victim of a mysterious attack by unidentified airplanes, was able to go unaided to Algiers today.

The ship's earlier S. O. S. which frantically called for immediate assistance, and then was followed by sirens, was cancelled.

The British naval authorities began forthwith an investigation into the bombing, which occurred northwest of Algiers, and south of Almeria, Spain. The attackers were presumed to be Spanish, but of which Civil War faction was unknown.

HARRIMAN HOSPITAL AUXILIARY TO CANVASS THE ENTIRE BOROUGH FOR CONTRIBUTIONS TOWARD THE SUPPORT OF HOSPITAL HERE

Another letter in behalf of the lawn fete to be conducted by the Harriman Hospital Auxiliary, beginning August 9th and extending to August 14th, has been addressed to the public.

It reads as follows:

Dear Citizen:
This letter is sent to you to announce the Harriman Hospital Lawn Fete of 1937 to be conducted under the auspices of the Ladies Auxiliary. The affair will be held August 9th to 14th.

It is fully realized that frequent requests are made for contributions and donations but this is the only plea made by us throughout the year. We know that various social events and club efforts are conducted for worthy causes and we do not want to impose upon the community. We understand there are many people who would be glad to make some small contribution if they were properly approached. Accordingly a solicitor will call in a canvass of the town and request from you a donation. The list will be published in the Bristol Courier unless you decline to have your name attached to your contribution.

This is a venture entirely separate from the lawn fete itself as it could not be expected that the proceeds of the lawn fete would be sufficient to control the deficit of the hospital maintenance. There was a time when we were ashamed to admit there was no hospital in our community; it made it so obvious we had allowed ourselves to suffer from arrested development.

Previously we have assured those who have contributed a sum equal to five dollars the privilege of one hospital day in the Harriman Hospital. In the larger cities every effort is made to co-operate with the public. In Philadelphia last year four million dollars were collected plus approximately another million dollars given by the State of Pennsylvania and yet there are hospitals that are barely able to open their doors because of the very meagre financial returns. In other instances an insurance plan has been devised in the form of hospital insurance at three cents per day, which means that for the sum of approximately twelve dollars a person would be permitted to have a limited period of free hospital treatment. For the average family the sum would be twenty-four dollars a year for a mother, father and four children. All these plans are impractical in this locality and an amount involving twenty dollars each year could not be comfortably afforded. This insurance plan may prove a big success and yet we must remember there are many insurance companies carrying protection against sickness and illness for which the premium is not much larger.

We do not wish to attempt to interfere in any sphere of action medically. We only want to try our very best to conduct a hospital in the town of Bristol. This is the beginning of our sixteenth year and, although the struggle of financing the hospital has been overwhelming at times, it has been the sweet fulfillment of a lifetime because there have been so many occasions upon which we can honestly believe the promptness of service rendered has resulted in the saving of human lives. The hospital itself was erected by the U. S. Government and is known by everyone who has had any contact with it to be a modernized, standard institution and everything needed is positively and absolutely in our possession as far as we have been able to investigate and learn. There may be some emergencies that might be required once in a lifetime but nothing has ever been presented that could not be given appropriate attention. If anything extraordinary did occur, a hospital center as large as Philadelphia is so close that within one hour services could be rendered.

We only ask you to make your best possible effort at this time.

C. BURNLEY WHITE IS SPEAKER, ROTARY CLUB

Addresses Weekly Session Held On the Lawn of Robert C. Ruchl

ON YOUTH MOVEMENT

A full attendance of Rotary members met on the lawn of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Ruchl yesterday afternoon for their regular weekly meeting. Frank Voit, president of the local club presided. The guest speaker was C. Burnley White, Cornwells Heights, who spoke on the subject "The More Abundant Life From The Old Deal." The Rev. Arthur D. Sargis, pastor of the Eddington Presbyterian Church was a guest.

Mr. White's topic was fully illustrated with quotation of passages from the Scriptures and from teachings of the Great Philosopher. The "Old Deal" referred to the good things that can be attained in life by following the teachings of the Bible.

A report was read that is of outstanding interest to the citizens of Bristol. The report deals with a youth

Complain To Police About Racing Motorcycles Here

The same laws which govern the operation of automobiles also apply to motorcycles, states Police Chief Linford J. Jones.

Complaints have been received from residents of the borough about the reckless manner in which motorcyclists race their machines through the streets here, and operate their machines with the motors racing. This is an annoyance and creates a danger to traffic in general and those found guilty are subject to arrest.

CORNWELLS FIREMEN PLAN FOR CONVENTION

Will Entertain Bucks County Association in Parish House, Christ Church, Next Month

ALARM DURING MEETING

CORNWELLS HEIGHTS, Aug. 6.—Just 10 seconds after a fire alarm was sent in to the Cornwells Fire Company No. 1, last evening, apparatus of the Company was on its way to the fire, a dump above Park avenue on Hulmeville Road on the Ejdys property.

Reason for the exceptional speed—members of the company were conducting their regular monthly business meeting with more than 20 members in attendance.

Result of the fire—flames quickly extinguished before they had a chance to spread to the Ejdys home and adjoining fields. The fire started when a large pile of rubbish was ignited near the Ejdys home. Breezes whipped the flames high and caused concern for nearby buildings. A large amount of rubberoid roofing material was in the rubbish. Union Fire Company apparatus of Cornwells also responded to the call.

After the fire was extinguished, at about 10 p. m., members of the Cornwells company returned to conduct the business meeting.

Norman Rigby, Cornwells Heights, was appointed by president Jack Whyte to fill the office of secretary for the balance of the term left vacant by John McIntyre.

One new member was elected into the company, Walter Kline, Cornwells Heights.

Plans for the Bucks County Firemen's Association convention, to be held in the Parish House at Eddington Christ Church in September were discussed. Funds were made available for refreshments. The Women's Auxiliary of the Cornwells Company will be in charge of refreshments for the convention.

A motion was also passed to have the secretary communicate with delinquents of tickets for past events staged by the fire company. It was pointed out that many tickets have not been returned for these affairs and it is therefore impossible to make final reports and keep accurate accounts.

Because all members of the Company do not have identical uniforms for dress parades and other like occasions action was taken last evening to create a fund for the purchase of uniforms for the members. The initial step in the raising of funds will consist of a picnic which will be held September 12. Elmer Pressler was appointed chairman of the committee on arrangements for the picnic. Tentative plans made last evening call for a uniform to consist of red shirt, white trousers, white belt and white tie.

Considerable discussion on the firemen's outing to be held in Philadelphia October 7th was held. Announcement was made that members of the Women's Auxiliary will parade on that date. It is also expected that the men of the Company will be represented on that day.

The question of a blinker light, at Bristol Pike and Cornwells Avenue, to aid fire apparatus to enter Bristol Pike when traffic is heavy was also discussed. It was stated that calls have come in for fires and members of the Company have found it difficult to enter Bristol Pike because of heavy traffic. The secretary was instructed to communicate with the Bensalem supervisors in regard to the matter.

Harvey Minster was appointed chairman of a committee to provide refreshments for the next regular meeting.

Announcement was also made by Chief H. H. Dettmer that new equipment consisting of hats, boots and coats had been received. Part of this equipment was used at the fire last evening.

Exonerate 12 Bankers

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—Twelve prominent Philadelphia bankers, attorneys and executives today were exonerated of guilt in connection with the collapse of the $132,000,000 Philadelphia Company for Guaranteeing Mortgages.

Indictments against all 12, charged with use of the mails to defraud, and with conspiracy to use the mails to defraud, were not pressed by United States Department of Justice, with permission of Federal Judge Albert W. Watson.

DROUGHT AFFECTING CROPS AND YIELD IS CURTAILED

Vegetables and Grains Are Affected by Continued Dry Spell

SOME YIELDS CUT 75%

Planting Being Delayed Because of Condition of the Ground

The continued drought in lower Bucks county is seriously affecting crops, state those growing vegetables and grains in general, and also the truck farmers.

The long dry-spell has cut down production considerably, say all those questioned, and one truck farmer says his crops are cut 75 per cent.

Through Bristol Township, Bensalem Township, and Falls Township, practically all farmers have the same thing to say, and they with all other residents are eager for rain.

"We can't plant our spinach for Fall until after we have rain. The ground is too dry," said a representative of King Farms, Falls Township, today.

The broccoli, beans, Swiss chard, cabbage, cucumbers, are all cut drastically in production at this farm. In spite of the fact that both of the portable irrigation outfits are in use day and night at King Farms, the crops are not securing sufficient moisture, it is said.

At the farm of Stanley Q. Becker, Bensalem Township, it was mentioned today that the crops are all cut down approximately 75 per cent. "Nothing is growing as it should," was the remark. At this farm the irrigation system is operating, as it is also at the farm of Yeagle Brothers, Bensalem Township, where the newly-planted celery is thus benefited. At the Yeagle farm for the past several days, celery has been planted. This, it is said by the Messrs. Yeagle, could not be done without the irrigating, as dry weather is very hard on celery.

From Bolton Farm, Bristol Township, comes the word that "everything is drying up. We can't plant until it rains." Alfalfa and late potatoes are what are bothering those in charge of the Bolton Farm, just now, as the farmers are eager to get these items planted.

At the farm of George Hibbs, Bristol Township, tomatoes and corn, both the sweet and field variety, are being affected by the continued hot, dry spell. "We are afraid these crops will be cut down greatly if we don't have rain soon," was the word from the Hibbs farm today. The tomatoes and sweet corn are grown there in large quantities for sale to a seed firm. The horse corn return, it is felt, will also be lowered if rain does not come soon.

Forty acres are planted to tomatoes at the farm of William Ruttecki, Bensalem Township. "Blossoms are dropping off," stated a member of the Ruttecki family today, and it is greatly feared that the results of the drought will be heavy loss.

Virtual War Declaration Seen

Reported blasts at Hankow brought a virtual Chinese-Japanese war, virtual declaration of which is imminent, according to a Tokyo spokesman today.

Developments:

1. Three hundred Japanese marines landed at Hankow and reported battling Chinese troops may rise to a tense situation. Japanese women and children were evacuated.

2. Japan pressed China in forming a coalition war cabinet, probably to be followed by a virtual war declaration.

3. Strong nations in China were demanded in an all-party resolution of the Japanese House of Representatives, which said, "China is pushed ahead war preparations."

4. Japan considered calling Washington to report 182 aviators and many soldiers are being organized in the United States to fight for China.

DON'T BE STINGY, CONGRESS!

The House has appropriated $150,000,000 to enable members of Congress to give to their constituents, in practically unlimited numbers, Rep. Sol Bloom's book, "The Story of the Constitution." Mr. Bloom, in an hour and a half speech now proposes giving the book to each newly-naturalized citizen, along with the final citizenship papers.

It might be a good idea also for Congress to give away besides, at public expense, to new citizens and all others whom congressmen wish to oblige, an embossed Declaration of Independence, a good dictionary, some 30 volumes of the best encyclopedia, the longest biography of George Washington in print, the full works of Thomas Jefferson and Benjamin Franklin, trucks to haul them in and home space and shelves on which to place them.

WORDS AND WORDS

Is there any authority for "after-effects," as in the phrase "the after-effects of measles," and if so what and why? An effect must follow its cause; it cannot precede it. If the effect must come after the cause, why call it an after-effect? Or if that is good English, why not speak of before-cause.

Then there is the commonly used expression "wearing apparel." What is apparel for, if not to be worn? Is there any other kind of apparel? The dictionaries say apparel is clothing. One doesn't buy clothing to eat, or to hang on the wall. Shakespeare did not say: "The wearing apparel oft proclaims the man." He said "apparel," net.

We are also moved to grief by the word "eyesight." To be sure there is foresight and more frequently hindsight. But sight implies the use of the eyes. People don't talk of earhearing or nosesmelling.

We suspect that all these expressions, and many more in common use that are equally tautologic, were invented by type-founders.

USEFUL AT 74

"Yes, it's a different world, but the fundamentals are here just the same. People have not changed. . . . The political situation is taking care of itself. . . . What has happened (in industry) will be a good thing for the country because so many hot-air balloons have been deflated."

Henry Ford, in the interview with a reporter on his 74th birthday, was characteristically homely and pointed. Thorough public realization is needed of the generally beneficial changes in 50 years, through which people "are learning better how to live." And it is true that the complex conditions resulting from the changes cause both "more chances for mistakes" and more chances for improvement.

Americans read Mr. Ford's interview on this birthday closely. They join in congratulating him on his mental and physical vigor as he begins his 75th year. "I want to be around as long as I am useful," he says. He is indeed still useful and, happily, bids fair to be useful for many years more.

You spend twenty years and $20,000 to raise a youngun; and he remembers only the time when he was denied his own way.

What's in a name? Well, it was vulgar to appear in an undershirt until somebody named it a sweat shirt.

movement which is being sponsored by the Bristol Rotary Club. Club members are highly enthused over the idea and feel that Bristol will benefit if the movement materializes.

Dr. J. Fred Wagner, chairman of the youth movement committee, presented the report which is as follows:

"The Bristol Rotary Club has been giving consideration to the various needs of our community, tending towards civic improvements. One of the ideas, that has received favorable comment from those with whom it has been discussed, is a recreation center. One that would offer facilities in winter as well as summer. One that would give opportunity to children, youths, and grown-ups for physical development, recreation, and training in useful occupations, extra curricular to our schools.

"Such a program would, of course, by necessity have to begin within limited proportions, and grow as its usefulness was demonstrated.

Such a program would also have to be community wide in order to be successful. To limit and to circumscribe would be to remove a large measure of its service, and thus, defeat the purpose of its inception.

"In communities where it has been tried over a period of years, it has been a strong factor in crime prevention, as well as a definite influence for good in building character for our coming generations.

"May we request that anyone interested in this most worthy movement to help our boys and girls—and the elders' too, communicate with the Courier, and express their views in its columns."

The regular scheduled meeting of the Bristol Rotary Club for next week will be held on Tuesday, instead of Thursday as is customary. Members will journey to Pipersville where they will meet at the Cabin of Mr. and Mrs. Lester D. Thorne.

SYNOPSIS

Following the death of her parents, 13-year-old Minnie Fogarty escapes from her home when the Children's Society sends for her and is befriended by Pop Dolan, kindly old watchman at Wessel's big brewery. Sheltered in the comfortable office of the idle brewery, Min is very happy with Pop and his dog, Terry, who are devoted to the "Princess of Pilsen," as Pop calls her. All goes well until Min is informed she won the Calcutta Sweepstakes, and her ne'er-do-well brother, Danny, tries to get Min away from Pop so he can share her fortune. Bill Duffy, dapper young detective reveals that Danny's wife is in prison and is no fit guardian for Min. Then comes the news that Min's winning of the Sweepstakes was an error and Min's dream bubble of a yacht, travel, and marriage to the Prince of Wales breaks. She seems more than satisfied, however, when Bill says she will marry no one but him. Realizing it is for Min's good, Pop reluctantly accepts the offer of his wealthy employer, Andrew Wessel, Jr., to educate Min. Andrew, Jr., is greatly attracted to Min . . . and her brother, Danny, plans to obtain money from the Wessels under threat of taking Min from them. A still Pop operated as a side-line explodes and the brewery is destroyed. Due to Danny's money demands, Mr. Wessel tells his son it would be unwise to marry into such a family. Then, too, Min had changed—some of her freshness and charm had gone. What he did not know was that Min longed for Pop and Terry. As soon as she learns of the fire, she goes in search of Pop. She finds him and together they start anew. Pop gets another watchman's job and Min is cashier in a restaurant. In the meantime, Bill Duffy has been searching everywhere for Min and finally locates her. He informs Min she is really 16 instead of 13.

CHAPTER XI

Preparations were going ahead for the marriage of Detective Duffy and Minnie when the indefatigably prying, snooping, corkscrewing "Snuck," Wingott, Yorkville news tipster, got it straight from a big dry wagon driver who got it straight from a maid in the household of the Wessel family that young Mr. Wessel had attempted suicide. Every possible endeavor to keep the affair out of the newspapers was made but physicians are required to report to the police cases of gunshot wounds they are called upon to treat, accidental or otherwise. And so Snuck's tip was verified at headquarters.

Andrew Wessel, Jr., was not of the wild class of rich young men nor was his family of the ultra-modern type. But they were wealthy people and lived atop Sutton Place. It was not a case of financial worry, for the elder Wessel had not been hit hard by stock market disasters.

Snuck's suicide attempt tip sent a horde of ravening reporters, male and female, with photographers, to Sutton Place. The Wessel family was under siege. . . .

The reporters learned that Minnie Fogarty, erstwhile Gas House beauty, was the reputed "girl in the case" and this, the so-called "inside" version of that attempted suicide.

The Wessels, owners of the old brewery that had been destroyed by fire, had felt a responsibility for Minnie's safety when they learned that she was living in the old structure, the ward of the night watchman, and had taken her into the family. After a few weeks she had disappeared. Young Wessel, deeply in love with the girl, had employed private detective agencies to locate her, but their search had been fruitless. The rich young man had neglected his law business and had taken to drink. . . . the old story of a broken heart.

The notoriety became torture to the senior Wessel, whose life had been of gentle and pleasant tenor and who was sorely hurt by the plight of his beloved son. He capitulated and met the reporters in the office of his law firm, Blake, White, Kaminsky, O'Brien and Wessel.

"There is some truth in all the published stories," he told them. "An article about the girl's having thought she had won a big prize in the Calcutta Sweep, of her being rich for a day, of her imagination's play over what she would do with the money, and the printing of a charming newspaper picture of her attracted us. The fact that she was living with the old watchman of a place I owned brought about our endeavor to do something for the girl. We found her sweet and charming and my son was deeply in love with her, just how deeply I did not realize until she went away and he began to brood and then to drink too much. . . . His wound is not serious. That is all."

"Did you object to his marriage to the tenement girl?" he was asked.

"Not at all," Mr. Wessel replied. "What made her go away, Mr. Wessel?"

"I can only conjecture, but I think it was because of her devotion to the old watchman who had taken her in when she was homeless. If they are alive, they are together, I feel sure."

"Would you and your family like to have her back now?" he was asked.

"I don't know that she would like to come back to us. We have never heard a word from her. But for my

"If he was desperate enough to try to kill himself," Pop suggested, "it might make him try again. That idea doesn't listen good to me, Bill."

Minnie had given up her job as restaurant cashier to prepare for the more serious and happier one of wifehood. It was time for Terry's airing with his boss and the hour for Detective Duffy to report for duty.

"Well," commanded Bill, "if you're going to take me down to headquarters, Min, dry those tears and get on your bonnet."

"I'm sorry for the guy, Min, but just because he tries to bumbo himself off, am I to call off the wedding?" asked Bill.

son's sake I would like to get in touch with her."

"If you found her," came a question, "would you consent to your son's marriage to her now?"

"I would consent to anything that would mean happiness for my boy, but I am afraid that such an alliance would not work out well. Minnie's heart would never be with our kind of people. I saw enough of her to realize that. If he could be convinced of this I know that this infatuation would wear off in time and happiness would come to him. If only Minnie or anyone could bring him back to his normal self!"

They read the Wessel news sensation in Pop's flat, Minnie in tears of pity, the tender heart of Pop greatly disturbed, and Detective Bill Duffy puzzled. . . .

The tressonau for "Her Highness" was ready and the wedding upper at the Golden Hind was being planned by its proprietors, Goldfahr and Bloom, to surpass anything of its sort in the annals of Harlem. Bride and groom were to go to Bermuda on their honeymoon and then make their home with Pop.

"But what can we do?" demanded Bill. "It's no fault of ours, Min. I'm sorry for the guy but just because he tries to bumbo himself off, am I to call off the wedding?"

"I'm sorry for his dad," said Pop. "He's got the right idea—his son will get over it with a little help."

"I wish I were dead," sobbed Minnie. "I'm the one to blame. I shouldn't have gone with them. I didn't belong with their crowd any more and never could belong with it."

"Can that stuff, Min," protested her lover.

"If anybody's to blame I guess I'm the one," said Pop. "But Min meant so much in my old life I would have agreed to anything that would make her happy, just as Mr. Wessel would agree to anything that would make his boy happy."

"Maybe," suggested Bill Duffy, "his dad can break the news gentle to him that you're married. That ought to end it."

PORT RICHMOND WINS OVER LANDRETH SEEDS

After failing on two previous attempts on their home grounds, the Port Richmond club, of the Philadelphia League, came to Landreth Ball Park last night and defeated Landreth Seeds, 4 to 1 was the final score.

Piatek, a husky right-hander, tossed them up for the Leaguers. He held the Landreth team to six hits, two of these coming in the last inning. A two-base hit by Griggs and a single by Barcalow saved the "farmers" from a shut-out. Piatek's supporting cast was good, especially Dunn and Magee. "Al" Carey pitched for Landreth's and while he baffled the visitors for most of the game with his left-hand slants, he had one poor inning, the third.

He passed Dunn with two gone and the bases bare. Schrey singled and Christy doubled. Then Magee hit safely, three runs scoring.

Christy's hit, a wild throw by Broderick, and Culp's two-base blow to right field in the sixth inning registered the other run.

Barcalow and Carey made four of the "farmers'" six hits. George Dougherty, who has been hitting hard for Landreth lately, had but one official time at bat, and that time was robbed of a single in the sixth inning when Magee made a sensational one-hand catch of his drive over second. Twice he walked and once was hit by a pitch-ball. Liberatore and Debokey each accepted nine chances in the field.

HIBERNIANS BATTER THEIR WAY TO VICTORY

Snapping out of its batting doldrums, the Hibernian baseball team batted its way to an easy 5-1 triumph over the Superior Zinc Corporation nine last evening before a large crowd on Leedom's field. The defeat sent the Superior team tumbling into the cellar. "Punkie" Zeffries, who hurried for the winners, had his hooks working in fine order, and set down 12 Superior batsmen via the strike-out route. Between the second and fifth frames, Punkie fanned 11 batters for put-outs, but sandwiched between was a pass to Bornice and a single by Bud Wright. Zeffries issued one pass to first.

The Hibs' twirler would have had an easy shut-out triumph if Bud Wright's single did not take a bad hop over McGinley's head in the second. Before the ball could be retrieved, Wright had circled the sacks to be credited with a home run. The other hit off Zeffries was a double by Stallone in the sixth.

"Eddie" Roe had two doubles to aid the Hibernians in victory, and Dave Ennis had a two-bagger and a single. Both clubs were charged with one error.

DANNY MURRAY TO BATTLE SCARRA HERE

The conqueror of "Hokey" Leighton, and who now has a winning streak of five straight bouts, will appear on the amateur boxing program of the St. Ann's Athletic Association, Monday night. The fast-going youngster is Danny Murray, Arena, and his opponent will be Tally Sciarra, St. Ann's.

Murray beat Leighton after the latter had run up a winning streak of nine consecutive bouts. It was a close bout throughout with the lanky Murray's reach enabling him to get the nod. In that bout, Leighton won the last session but Murray was credited with the first two.

Sciarra has fought Murray twice and the log stands one victory and one defeat. This is the rubber bout and the local fighter is anxious to get the jump on the youth from the Arena club.

Another bout which is clinched according to matchmaker Sammy Moffo is that between Sylvester Purnell, St. Ann's, and "Reds" Ruffing, Arena. Purnell has won his last five bouts, four via the knockout route. The colorful St. Ann's boxer surprised the fans last week when after taking a shelling the first few minutes of the first round came back and finished his foe before the session was over.

Purnell is in wonderful shape and expects to add another triumph to his list. The boxing managers of the A. A. U. clubs are now trying to sidetrack the Bristol fighter because of the record he is compiling. Many predict that Purnell will go places in the September tournament of the A. A. U.

Matchmaker Sammy Moffo is attempting to book bouts for Sammy Sindora, Vince Delia, Al Paris and Joe Ferrara to complete the Bristolians on the card. The fight managers are expressing their sympathies for the five members of the Sigma Theta Boxing Club who were injured while going to Wildwood to participate in amateur bouts. Karl Moss is still in the hospital as the result of the accident.

Tickets for the bouts are now on sale at the St. Ann's club house and can be secured by phoning 9934.

TO PLAY BASEBALL TO AID INJURED MEMBER OF TEAM

Sunday afternoon at three o'clock at Landreth Park there will be a benefit baseball game for Russell Maulsbury, who broke his ankle in the game at Collingswood, N. J., on Memorial Day afternoon.

The entire proceeds of the afternoon will be given to Maulsbury to aid him financially. Maulsbury, each summer, plays ball and works to aid in his education. The injury which he received during the first of the season has handicapped him severely.

An appeal is made for all baseball fans of Bristol and vicinity to turn out for this benefit game.

ODD FELLOWS MOVE STEP CLOSER TO CROWN

BRISTOL TWILIGHT LEAGUE

—Schedule for Tonight—
 ST. ANN'S vs. ODD FELLOWS
 (Edgely diamond)
 Umpire, Fields; scorer, Tomlinson

The Odd Fellows moved a step closer to the second half championship of the Bristol Twilight League last evening by taking the measure of the Rohm & Haas team, 9-1, on the Maple Beach field. As a result of the triumph, the Odd Fellows are assured of at least a tie, even if they lose all their remaining games.

Good pitching was again prevalent in the Oddies' victory. Harry Minister baffled the chemical mixers with three hits, two of which went to Gordon Gilbert. The lone marker scored by the losers was the result of an error made by the hurler himself. A fast double-play in the sixth checked a Rohm & Haas rally.

Twelve hits rattled off the bats of the Odd Fellows' batters and the feature of this was a triple by Johnny Dick with the sacks loaded in the second. However, Dick was not the batting star for Minister had three out of three as did "Bill" Ritter. Both clubs played good ball afield.

RANGER WINS AGAIN; CUP STAYS IN AMERICA

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 6.—Harold Stirling Vanderbilt's white-hulled queen of the sailing seas, Ranger, crowned this country's sixteenth defense of the America's Cup, blue ribbon trophy of yachting, with a record-smashing triumph yesterday in the fourth and deciding race against Thomas Octave Murdoch Sopwith's luckless Endeavour II.

Ranger crossed the finish line of a 39-mile triangular course with a winning margin of 3 minutes, 37 seconds, equivalent to about 1,000 yards, after being handed the final race on a silver platter by the big blue challenger's premature start, the first in America's Cup history.

Sopwith, trapped between the starting buoy and his rival as a result of his over-anxiety to make a split-second get-away, virtually was forced to cross the line too soon. Caught much like a base-runner between the bags, the Britisher was nine seconds past the line when the starting signal sounded, while Vanderbilt again gauged his get-away perfectly.

Forced to gyrate around the buoy for a fresh start, Sopwith's blunder cost him exactly 1 minute, 15 seconds, and gave Vanderbilt an opportunity to build up a windward margin that settled the outcome. It converted what might have been a real boat race into another parade.

After the debacle, the challenger actually outfoated the defender over the last 20 miles of the course, sailed in brisk breezes that ranged from 12 to 16 miles per hour. It was the first time since the series started that Endeavour showed superiority but it came too late to have much effect. All it did was keep the British boat from being out-classed and reduce Ranger's final margin by around a half minute.

In turning back Sopwith's second bid for the "old mug" and clinching his third successful defense of the cup in succession, the 54-year-old American skipper made his sweep of four straight races something to remember him by.

Vanderbilt not only duplicated his feat of taking four in a row from Sir Thomas Lipton's last Shamrock in 1930, when Enterprise was the defending sloop, but concluded the current series with a record of eight successive victories over a Sopwith challenger. Rainbow, the 1934 defender, took the last four from Endeavour I after losing the first two tests.

Vanderbilt now has captured 12 out of 14 cup races. Only one other man in cup history, Charley Barr, defended successfully three times in a row. Barr, a professional, turned the trick with Columbia in 1899 and 1901 and Reliance in 1903. As an amateur skipper, Vanderbilt is in a class by himself and undisputed master of the sailing seas.

To make it all the more emphatic, Ranger added to her record-breaking achievements by wiping out the two records which had stood to the credit of Sopwith's first Endeavour, beaten challenger in the hotly contested 1934 series off Newport.

Ranger, with Co-Designer Olin Stephens at the wheel and Vanderbilt standing by, crossed the finish line in a brisk southwester, in the new record elapsed time of 3 hours, 7 minutes, 49 seconds, for the 39-mile triangular cup course.

This wiped out the mark of 3:09:01 set by Endeavour I in the second race of the battle three years ago with the Vanderbilt-guided Rainbow. The margin between the old and new cup race marks was exactly 1:12.

On the way to the first mark, Ranger was officially timed in 1:17:45, also a record for the 10-mile windward beat. It surpassed the first Endeavour's mark of 1:18:19 by a margin of 34 seconds.

The climax to Ranger's all-conquering cup performance removed the slightest doubt that Vanderbilt's big ghost ship is the fastest ever built for Class "J" competition. For the second straight day the defender proved her mastery to windward with a record-breaking exhibition. These achievements, against the keener British competition on both days, followed two previous triumphs by the biggest margins in 50 years of cup racing.

SCHICK SHAVER

AC and DC

"It isn't a rich man's gadget"

It's an honest, straightforward shaver that shaves the toughest beards and the tenderest skins. An outdoor workman shaves pleasantly and quickly—and no millionaire can buy more shaving comfort. Gone are the days of preparing the face for a shave. No water, no soap, no waiting for the beard to soften.

YOU CANNOT CUT YOURSELF. Speed, not sharpness, shaves you close and clean. No moving part touches the skin. There can be no cuts, no scratches, no scraping.

SAVES MONEY. There are no blades to get dull, to sharpen or renew—no parts to replace for an indefinite time. So the Schick Shaver brings down the cost of shaving so low that it pays for itself over and over again. We recommend the Schick Shaver, and will gladly demonstrate it for you.
